Well aware that education and training of the next generations can no longer be provided entirely by institutions, we believe that we must offer a more broad-reaching educational approach, also involving other players active in the field in a cooperative manner.

Education is individual and collective responsibility that belongs to all but must be close to each of us. It should be adopted and applied in schools and in politics, associations, cooperatives, cultural centers, families and any other possible contexts.

It is important to recover and foster the role of the community, to ensure the passing on of all knowledge tied to material and social culture, including the culture of food.

We believe that food is the ideal instrument with which to experiment and promote an articulated, complex and creative education that gives value to interdependence, the environment and common good.

Slow Food upholds that everyone has a right to education, without distinction by sex, language, ethnicity or religion. Education should be available in various locations and at any age, in order that we don’t pass on to the next generation that which we can help improve today. It is only through an educated, critical and motivated population that countries can give the best of themselves.

The right to education cannot remain an abstract declaration, as the principles are violated when they are not active.
Education for Slow Food

- is about pleasure, a light and convivial occasion to feel good and enjoy ourselves
- teaches the values of slowness and respect for our own and other people’s rhythms
- is learning by doing, because hands-on experience increases and strengthens educational outcomes
- values the diversity of cultures, knowledge, skills and opinions
- recognizes everyone’s needs, and stimulates the interests and motivation of each individual
- approaches topics in their complexity, favoring a multi-disciplinary approach
- means taking time to understand, internalize and elaborate one’s own vision
- encourages participation by facilitating dialogue, self-expression, cooperation, listening and mutual acceptance
- is a personal journey that involves cognitive, experiential and emotional dimensions
- is nourished by its own context, giving value to memory, knowledge and local cultures
- facilitates exchange among local networks, reinforcing the sense of community
- develops self-awareness of everyone’s own role and actions
- stimulates curiosity and trains intuition and critical thinking
- promotes change generating new and more responsible thoughts and behaviors