Why Food for Change?

“When we think about threats to the environment, we tend to picture cars and smokestacks, not dinner. But the truth is, our need for food poses one of the biggest dangers to the planet.”
— Jim Richardson, "Feeding 9 billion"

Food is cause, victim and delicious solution of climate change. This year we want to focus on the positive solutions of Slow Food and connect the dots between farmers and consumers as everyday climate champions.

It’s time to take action!

Join us to grow solutions to climate change. By acting together as a global network, we can pivot towards more sustainable food production and farming systems, and achieve a climate friendly future.
